

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

[00053] A method for encoding elements of an electronic design generates a flattened hierarchy of a parameterized cell of the electronic design, selects common and unique parameters of each element in the parameterized cell, and generates a physical design quantization 5 characteristic value from the selected common and unique parameters.